

It Saves You Money.

The special half price sale of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by L. M. Buehler means the saving of a few dollars on every family's yearly bill for medicines.

Each 50 cent bottle (Mr. Buehler sells it for 25c) contains sixty doses of a medicine that is pleasant to take and which can be depended upon to cure the worst case of constipation, dyspepsia or liver trouble. Mr. Buehler has so much faith in the superior merit of this medicine that he says: "If Dr. Howard's specific does not cure you come back to my store and I will return your money."

If you are troubled with constipation, headache or dizziness, or if your food does not digest naturally and easily, you cannot afford to let pass the special price that Mr. Buehler is making this week on Dr. Howard's specific.

This remedy is not an ordinary medicine. It is the favorite formula of a well known physician, and has the endorsement of hundreds of physicians of eminence in their profession, who prescribe it in all cases of constipation, dyspepsia or liver trouble, knowing from experience that it will make a complete and lasting cure.

FAIR AND FESTIVAL

By the Gettysburg Fireman May 30, 31 and June 1, 2.

The Gettysburg Fire Company will hold a Fair and Festival in Xavier Hall on May 30th., 31st. and June 1st. and 2nd.

There is possibly no other organization in Gettysburg that deserves support more than the Fire Company, these brave home protectors are always ready and eager to do service for the citizens of Gettysburg and it is only fair now that an opportunity presents itself, that our people contribute liberally and encourage the firemen in their efforts to secure appropriate uniforms, for which the proceeds are to be used. Fancy work, groceries, eatables or anything of value may be contributed.

A committee will wait on the citizens in the near future to solicit donations. Any persons wishing to contribute articles, etc., before seen by the committee can leave the same at C. B. Kitzmiller's Store.

As noted above the proceeds will be used to uniform the company and as the State Firemen's Convention is to meet here the first week in October it is due our company to make a fine showing. Everybody should help the cause along.

Unprecedented Volume of Business.

The volume of business at the banking institutions of this town for April 1 was unprecedented, nothing like it in their history. Money was so plentiful that the wonder was where it all came from.

The volume of business at the Gettysburg National Bank on Monday ran up to $1,425,000 and was the banner day in the 92 years of its existence. The First National Bank was over $200,000 ahead of April 1st of last year with a total of $1,285,000.

The Citizens' Trust Co. shot over the half million mark with the volume of their business on Saturday.

The local demand for money was very limited. Everybody seemed to have money and few to want money.

Saturday and Monday were busy days in Prothonotary's and Recorder's office. The judgements entered were a trifle short of last year with satisfactions about same. Mortgages entered were about 15 ahead of last year.

SEWER ABOUT FINISHED

SEVEN MILES OF SEWER HAVE BEEN PUT IN OUR STREETS.

The Cost Has Been Within Limit Voted by People—Up-to-date Sewered Town.

The public sewer system is practically finished as appeared by report made to Town Council at meeting last night. There are odds and ends and small connections to be made which may keep the contractor at work for a month or two but the tearing up of sewers and laying of pipes is at the jumping off point.

There were citizens who predicted when the work was begun that either only half the town would be sewered or that the sewer completed would cost much more. Expressions were heard varying from $40,000 to $60,000. But the building of the sewer has cost the town about the original estimate and the amount the people voted to be spent—$30,000.

The advantages of the sewer system to the town can not be estimated. It places us in a position as an altogether up-to-date community. The town is well located to be drained and sewered and the one expression heard has been that the work has been well done. The system gives sewerage practically to the whole town: every section being reached. It adds to the value of every piece of property in the town. It ends the need of cess pools and is the best protection of the health of the community.

A well sewered town, with a water plant equal for all purposes, with water analyzed as pure, with electric and gas plants to make us a well lighted community, we are in the front rank as a progressive community and a most desirable place to own a home in and live.

The sewer today is about seven miles long. Up to March 1, 25,596 feet had been laid by the contractor and the first ward sewer of 6300 feet. During March about $300 were put down making a total of 35,196 feet or about seven miles.

The only uncertain item in the contract was rock. It was all a guess how much would be encountered and at $2 a square yard rock could have cut quite a figure in raising the cost. About 3500 yards of rock were removed up to April 1, so this item has amounted to $7,000.

The total cost of putting down sewer to March 1 was $24,711.56. Of this $21,002.99 was paid to the contractor and $3,708.57 was the 15 per cent held back until the work is entirely finished, inspected and approved. The estimate for March including the septic tank at end of system was about $5000. The first ward sewer cost $2,000. The engineer and rights of way have cost to date $1031.24.

The total of these items amounted to $30,742.80.

The bond issue was $50,000. The council was not in a hurry to dispose of the bonds, considering it better financing to borrow the money as needed, rather than to between the payment of interest on the bond issue, and by this there was a saving being what interest on the bonds would have been and discount on loans of $500.

The work of the contractor yet to be done will be to go over whole line, complete manholes and lampholes and there will be a total of about 120 of these, making certain minor branches, and clean up the whole line.

Letter to Chas. W. Troxell.

Gettysburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: There's nothing we like to tackle so well as a cheap paint town. Devote is cheaper than any of 'em. Cheap means dear. And cheap means cheap; you can always tell which. Cheap town is 'sary; cheap Devote is faithful and true Devote.

Mr. A. J. Smith, Littlestown, Pa., painted his house; his painter told him to get 13-2 gallons Devote; had 41-2 left.

Mr. A. H. Robert, same town, has lots of buildings; paints Devote; pays 20 cents more a gallon for it; is glad to say it's the cheapest paint there is. He knows how it covers; he don't half-know how it wears yet.

Yours truly
F. W. Devote & Co.

Life Guards.

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases, find allies in the very elements as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

To Furniture Buyers

If you need furniture this spring why not buy the kind that we sell, goods that you can rely on. There is little difference between the cost of cheap truck furniture and the kind that we sell. Our experience teaches us that low price goods are not always cheap. At this season of the year we make great preparations for the new beginners in housekeeping. We invite you to come and examine the largest stock of furniture ever shown in this section of the country. Do not judge the size of our store by the first floor as the entire second floor of this building is full of all kinds of furniture, besides a big warehouse. All goods selected now are put away with your name on and delivered to you free of charge by wagon or railroad.

CUTICURA REMEDIES WORK WONDERS.

"As I was a sufferer with eczema I write to tell you what a great friend I found in Cuticura Remedies. In six months I had tried three doctors, but did not get any better. It was on my body and on my face so thick that I could hardly put a pin in me without touching eczema. My face was covered, my eyebrows came out, and then it got in my eye. I then went to another doctor. He asked me what I was taking for it, and I told him Cuticura. He said that was a very good thing, but that he thought that my face would be marked for life. But Cuticura did its work and my face is now just as clear as it ever was."

"My brother-in-law told me about the wonderful Cuticura remedies. I took his advice and got the Ointment, Soap, and Resolvent. I washed with the Cuticura Soap and then applied the Ointment, and took Cuticura Resolvent as directed. In a short time my face began to get better, and when I had taken one bottle of Resolvent I could brush the scales off my face like a powder. When I had taken four bottles my face was as clear as ever."

"I told all my friends about my remarkable cure. I feel so thankful I want everybody far and wide to know what Cuticura can do. It is a sure cure for eczema. (signed) Mrs. Emma White, 641 Cherrier Place Camden, N. J., April 25, 1905."

GIBSON PICTURE FAD SEIZES COLLECTORS

Takes Place of Post Card Craze With the Young Women.

The Gibson picture habit has been fastened on a big proportion of the reading population of this section, by the publication by the Sunday National American of one of the latest of this great American artist's pictures as art reproductions. It has started the Gibson craze, and this promises to last until the last of the pictures are up. There was a time when the Gibson picture was the only one of the young women. Now the Gibson picture is supplemented by a new craze, the opportunity to collect the artist's works, and there will be few homes that will not have a good representation within the next few weeks. For the time being the collection of Gibson pictures has taken the place of the collection of post cards in Philadelphia, and the fad is certain to spread to all of the cities where the pictures are made so easily obtainable. The picture which The North American is to issue next Sunday is "A Castle in the Air." It is one of the most powerful of Gibson's works, and teaches a broad moral lesson to young people of all ages.

REPORT OF SUPT. H. M. ROTH

MADE TO THE DEPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION OF PENN'A.

First Public Appearance Was in Reports of 1905 Distributed Last Week.

The following report of the schools of Adams county for the year ending June 5, 1905, is respectfully submitted. The past year has been a successful one. Everything pertaining to the work of the schools has been in a marked measure successful. Improvements have been made in teaching and discipline on the part of teachers and the directors deserve credit for their interest, encouragement and activity in making improvements to school buildings and school grounds.

In a number of districts houses were repaired and repainted and otherwise improved and equipped with better furnishings and apparatus.

The directors of Butler township built a new house at Grape Vine to take the place of the one which was destroyed by fire last year. It is a substantial brick house, wainscoted three and one-half feet high, slate roof and unmounted with a cupola in which hangs a bell, and furnished with patent desks and slate surface. They are also erecting a new building in the Bridge district which will be modern and equipped in an up-to-date manner.

Fairfield borough is about completing a handsome one-story, three room building. The building will be furnished in every particular and ready for occupancy at the opening of the coming term.

The Hamilton board repaired the Hartman school house by raising the ceiling, replastering and wainscoting, laying a new floor, repainting the inside and outside, re-roofing with slate and adding a new porch. It is now a beautiful and substantial house. The school boards of these districts are to be commended and deserve the thanks of the citizens and pupils of the several districts.

On August 26th, the fourth annual meeting of the Adams county teachers was convened in Brua Chapel, Gettysburg. One hundred and seventy-four teachers, besides many others interested in popular education were in attendance. I was ably assisted by Supt. L. E. McGinnes, of Steelton, and Dr. C. C. Boyer, of Kutztown.

Notes from a Superintendent's Note Book, and "The Rational Method in Reading," by Supt. McGinnes; "I Would Like to Teach School," and "School Management," by Dr. Boyer. Other subjects which were emphasized were, the new course of study, importance of teaching local and state history, and local institutes. These meetings have become popular with the teachers and are recognized as important factors for successful work and result in great good. They give the superintendent an opportunity to make suggestions and in a measure outline the work for the new term and thereby greatly aid in systematizing the work. Our teachers have my sincere gratitude for turning out to this meeting in such large numbers, for their enthusiasm and loyalty in the work. (Teachers are not paid to attend this meeting. They bear their own expenses.)

The annual county institute was held at Gettysburg Thanksgiving week, November 23-27, 1904. The instruction was interesting and practical. The teachers received many hints and suggestions which could be applied to the work of the school room. The attendance was quite large. All the teachers were present.

The school directors held their fourteenth annual meeting in the court house, Gettysburg, Saturday, January 14th.

The central examinations for pupils of the advanced grade of the schools were conducted on March 17th, 1905. One hundred and eight applicants presented themselves for examination. Of this number ninety-one passed with averages entitling them to admittance to the final examination held at Gettysburg, March 25. The result of this examination showed that fifty-two were entitled to common school diplomas.

Since the adoption of the county course of study seven hundred and three pupils have been graduated. Seventy-five have since graduated at state normal schools; ten at college; five at Theological seminaries; five at schools of pharmacy; twenty-five at business colleges; eight at medical colleges; eight at dental colleges. At this time more than a hundred are enrolled as students in the higher institutions of learning.

The foregoing is indeed a brilliant record for our country boys and girls and it should inspire others to continue their studies with increased interest. Seven young people—two girls and five boys—were graduated from the Littlestown high school with credit. The address to the class was delivered by Rev. Stanley Le Fevre Krebs, of Greensburg, and the diplomas were presented by the president of the board of directors.

Through the influence of Representative Charles L. Longsdorf, the public schools of Littlestown received from the Philadelphia Museum a very beautiful and valuable industrial exhibit which has been appropriately installed in very suitable cases furnished by the school board. This contribution will prove a useful adjunct for teaching industrial geography.

A class of sixteen graduated from the high school at Gettysburg. The young people rendered an interesting program in Brua Chapel, May 25.

On account of a change in the course of study East Berlin did not graduate a class this year.

As usual local and district institutes were held in most districts. They are generally well attended. Many good, live subjects were discussed at these meetings. The local institute and educational meeting are great factors in properly carried on, by which a community can be aroused in educational sentiment. The educational sentiment of a community decides what kind of schools that community shall enjoy. Hence the importance of moulding public opinion in favor of good, progressive schools.

I held sixteen examinations and granted one hundred and ten provisional certificates and two professional certificates.

It has been my aim to keep the standard of examinations for certificates high enough so that the number of licensed applicants should not far exceed the number of vacancies. As a result of this plan our schools have been supplied with a well qualified corps of teachers. At the opening of the term last fall only a few persons holding certificates were without schools and in most cases these were employed as substitutes or engaged to fill vacancies.

Eighty-six of our teachers are males and one hundred and thirteen females. Forty-six are normal graduates; three are college graduates; twenty-five hold permanent certificates; twenty-three professional certificates and one hundred and two provisional certificates.

The average age of the teachers is 25 years. One hundred and fifty-five of the teachers have attended teachers' training schools. Eighty attended the whole or part of last year. Teachers have come to realize that it is absolutely necessary to make preparation for the profession of teaching and as a result of this a very few make application for certificates before attending school outside of the public schools. But no matter how well a teacher may be prepared experience is absolutely necessary to successful teaching. The thoroughness with which the work of a school is done depends almost entirely upon the efficiency of the teacher. The retention of teachers as long as their work is effective is for the best interests of the schools. The influence of a good teacher in a district cannot be overestimated.

Four hundred and thirty-four pupils attended schools every day of the term and were awarded certificates for perfect attendance by the County Superintendent.

On April 11, Miss Alice C. Powers, who for more than forty years was employed as a teacher in the county—the past thirty-eight in Gettysburg—passed from her labors on earth to her reward in heaven. She was devoted to her chosen work of the school room and greatly beloved by her pupils and honored and respected by all. She was a zealous worker in St. James' Church, Gettysburg, of which she was a member.

I am encouraged from the results of the past year, and hopeful of the future. I commend our schools and teachers to the intelligent and charitable citizens of the county.

I desire to express my gratitude for kindness and favors received at the hands of directors, teachers, parents, pupils, the press and the school department.

L. T. L. Meetings.

The meeting was called to order by the president Wallace V. Peters, the minutes were read by Miss Mary E. Griest, secretary for the evening. The departments reported as follows: Press, work done. Literature, has ordered leaflets to distribute in the public schools and elsewhere. Railroad committee is encouraged to renew work. Mercy department will shortly arrange for a public meeting.

Flower Mission reported twenty-two glasses of jelly and twenty-six envelopes of clippings sent to the Harrisburg Hospital since the February meeting, also books and clippings sent to the children's hospital.

The literary hour was devoted to the reading and study of "Snowbound" by Whittier which proved to be a very pleasant and profitable way to spend the evening. One of the members read a letter from Whittier himself, received a number of years ago, concerning one of the characters in the poem, which added much to the interest.

The reading of "Snowbound" seemed very appropriate coming as it did just after the snowstorm. "Among the Hills" by the same author will be read at the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mary T. Peters, Guernsey, Saturday evening April 21st. All interested are invited to attend.

In spite of almost impassable roads quite a number attended and seemed to enjoy the exercises, which consisted of songs, business and the lessons.

The meeting was called to order by the president Wallace V. Peters, the minutes were read by Miss Mary E. Griest, secretary for the evening. The departments reported as follows: Press, work done. Literature, has ordered leaflets to distribute in the public schools and elsewhere. Railroad committee is encouraged to renew work. Mercy department will shortly arrange for a public meeting.

Flower Mission reported twenty-two glasses of jelly and twenty-six envelopes of clippings sent to the Harrisburg Hospital since the February meeting, also books and clippings sent to the children's hospital.

The literary hour was devoted to the reading and study of "Snowbound" by Whittier which proved to be a very pleasant and profitable way to spend the evening. One of the members read a letter from Whittier himself, received a number of years ago, concerning one of the characters in the poem, which added much to the interest.

The reading of "Snowbound" seemed very appropriate coming as it did just after the snowstorm. "Among the Hills" by the same author will be read at the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mary T. Peters, Guernsey, Saturday evening April 21st. All interested are invited to attend.

In spite of almost impassable roads quite a number attended and seemed to enjoy the exercises, which consisted of songs, business and the lessons.

dred and two provisional certificates. The average age of the teachers is 25 years. One hundred and fifty-five of the teachers have attended teachers' training schools. Eighty attended the whole or part of last year. Teachers have come to realize that it is absolutely necessary to make preparation for the profession of teaching and as a result of this a very few make application for certificates before attending school outside of the public schools. But no matter how well a teacher may be prepared experience is absolutely necessary to successful teaching. The thoroughness with which the work of a school is done depends almost entirely upon the efficiency of the teacher. The retention of teachers as long as their work is effective is for the best interests of the schools. The influence of a good teacher in a district cannot be overestimated.

Four hundred and thirty-four pupils attended schools every day of the term and were awarded certificates for perfect attendance by the County Superintendent.

On April 11, Miss Alice C. Powers, who for more than forty years was employed as a teacher in the county—the past thirty-eight in Gettysburg—passed from her labors on earth to her reward in heaven. She was devoted to her chosen work of the school room and greatly beloved by her pupils and honored and respected by all. She was a zealous worker in St. James' Church, Gettysburg, of which she was a member.

I am encouraged from the results of the past year, and hopeful of the future. I commend our schools and teachers to the intelligent and charitable citizens of the county.

I desire to express my gratitude for kindness and favors received at the hands of directors, teachers, parents, pupils, the press and the school department.

L. T. L. Meetings.

The meeting was called to order by the president Wallace V. Peters, the minutes were read by Miss Mary E. Griest, secretary for the evening. The departments reported as follows: Press, work done. College Gets Valuable Library.
Mrs. Stuckenberg, widow of the late Dr. J. H. W. Stuckenberg of Wooster, Ohio, has presented to Pennsylvania College, at Gettysburg, the valuable library of the decedent, consisting of over 2500 volumes, embracing historical, sociological, theological and other subjects.

Dr. Stuckenberg also possessed two desks which belonged to the renowned Alexander von Humboldt, who died in 1859. On one of these desks Humboldt wrote his immortal "Cosmos." The desks were bought by Dr. Stuckenberg at a sale in Berlin, Germany, where the scholar had attended the University. These valuable pieces will also be presented to the college by Mrs. Stuckenberg.

Theodore F. Hawkins, residing at 236 S. Washington street, Gettysburg, Pa., we have been informed by his family, is suffering terribly from cancer of throat and is in a sad condition.

Mr. Hawkins has informed us that he is without financial means to help himself, not having the means to purchase the needed medicines. He is also behind with his rent and it can be said truthfully if the druggist was to charge him half price for the medicines he would have to do without. His doctor is even as kind. Mr. Hawkins does not use intoxicants, liquors or tobacco in any form. He was a soldier in the War of the Rebellion for over four years, faithfully serving his country. Now, good people, you are kindly invited to come forward and leave a small contribution at the GETTYSBURG COMPILER or the "Star and Sentinel" office or at his house.

The famous "Wooltex" styles

It is with no little pride that we announce to our customers the fact that this store is the home of these fashionable garments and the celebrated "Wooltex" suits and coats in this locality. In making this arrangement we want to say that we realize the fact that we have put forth our greatest effort, the strongest card we know of, to win the approval and co-operation of the best dressed women in our city.

The word "Wooltex" stands for four strong features which these celebrated makers embody in EVERY garment they produce

- First—The STYLE OF THE GARMENT
- Second—The STYLE OF THE FABRIC
- Third—The FIT OF THE GARMENT
- Fourth—The HIGH CLASS TAILORING

To understand the meaning of the word "Wooltex" you must combine what the highest result of each of the above mentioned features represent in one complete work.

The "Wooltex" styles are authority, so accepted by the leading fashion journals and writers, being mentioned in nearly every periodical.

The fabrics are the very newest and most exclusive patterns the makers have to offer.

The fit of the garments, that we leave to you, we just claim that they equal the best results attained by the highest priced tailors.

The tailoring is the work of the most skilled men tailors working under the most favorable conditions.

Gettysburg, Pa., Wednesday, Apr. 1 1906

TO SUBSCRIBERS OF "NEWS."

The Gettysburg News ceased to be published with issue of last Friday. As announced in that issue the subscription list has been transferred to the COMPILER and those who have paid in advance will receive the COMPILER instead of the News. Where readers took both papers the advance payments to the News will receive credit in extending the time of the COMPILER. There can be no loss to any subscriber.

The News had gone through reverses before purchased by Mr. Hammond, who made of it a more highly creditable paper than at any previous period of its existence, but the fact established itself that a paper could not be made to pay the cost of production and the proprietor determined to discontinue it and devote himself entirely to his book and job work and college periodicals published at his plant.

The COMPILER in taking over the subscription list will be pleased and gratified not only to send COMPILER to those who have paid in advance for the News with the hope of adding them as permanent subscribers to COMPILER but also to add to our list as subscribers those whose subscriptions have expired and who have been receiving the News and would kindly send immediate answers to notices sent so that our mailing lists can be made up and paper go forward without any break.

In offering the COMPILER in place of the News, it is in place to refer to achievements of the COMPILER how less than two years ago it was made a convenient eight page paper, with a new dress throughout instead of an unwieldy four page paper, how machinery has been added to give a complete paper, folded, pasted and trimmed, how when advertising is heavy we add pages so that in first year of COMPILER in present form a dozen of the 52 numbers were 10 and 12 page numbers and the second year will be ahead of this with a 16 page to our credit.

That 16 page paper, our Centennial number, of which hundreds of extra copies were issued, has been exhausted. It was said to be "well edited," "handsomely printed," "tastefully illustrated in half tone on fine paper"—our regular paper—and many like complimentary terms, to which we now refer to show our new friends the character of our work and worth of our paper.

The most complete court news is given. Every available inch of space in the COMPILER is given over to town and county news, covering it thoroughly in all details. Many valuable special articles have been given and we have contributions promised from a number of sources for future numbers. We have produced several dozen Adams county pictures in the past year and have on hand a supply ready for use. Our rule has been news before pictures. We have dozens of other Adams Co. pictures from every section and along with them will be contributions. A subscriber recently told us that one of the contributions was worth price of paper for a year to him.

In view of the above we respectfully solicit a continuance of all subscriptions to News and we will leave nothing undone to make the COMPILER of value to you and will trust to retain you as permanent friends and subscribers of the COMPILER.

Big Weight for Young Beef.

Wm. M. Bowers of Tyrone township recently killed a young beef which breaks the record for weight. It was only 13 months old and dressed 557 lbs. It weighed 1,100 lbs. on the hoof. It was half Durham and half Guernsey. Mr. Bowers took calf from cow at six weeks, fed it on milk until pastured through summer. It was fed grain, whole and chopped corn every morning and evening to fatten. Mr. Bowers certainly knows how to raise big cattle. Who can beat his record?

Remarkable War Record.

William Noel of Hampton, this county, his two sons Addison and Jacob Noel, and two brothers Henry and Frank Noel were in the service during the Civil War and stranger yet the five were members of Co. I, 20th Pennsylvania Volunteer Regt. The five are still living at various points in this county.

Fall From a Ladder.

John Geesey, living with his son, Jacob Geesey, along the Baltimore pike in Oxford township was attending to some work at the barn on Tuesday evening of last week. He had ascended a ladder about six feet to get eggs out of a nest when he lost his balance and fell to floor, badly injuring his head and left shoulder and cutting a hole entirely through the ear. The family were away at the time at a flitting. Mr. Geesey was found lying on floor upon some cushions beside the stove, having crawled there from barn but was unable at the time to explain how the accident occurred or how he reached the house. Mr. Geesey is confined to his bed and is suffering much pain from the fall. He is 52 years old.

[Original.]

My passport described me as being six feet high, light hair and blue eyes. I obtained it for the purpose of visiting the Japanese army in Manchuria just before the battle of Mukden. I was received by a member of the staff, who examined the passport, comparing me with it very carefully. Notwithstanding that the Japanese are a secretive people, I noticed that the officer had something on his mind, and that something pertained to me. However, when he had done with the passport he handed it back to me, apparently satisfied, and asked me what he could do for me. I replied that I had come all the way from America to see some of the war from the Japanese side. He promised to report my arrival to Marshal Oyama. He did so, and when he returned bore an invitation from the marshal for me to ride with him on a tour of the outposts.

During the ride I was under the especial care of the man who had received me, Major Seshimo, who pointed out the different objects of interest. I was introduced to the marshal, who expressed himself sensible of the sympathy the Japanese cause had received in America. When we returned to headquarters I was about to take my leave when Major Seshimo told me that a tent had been provided for me with the staff. I much preferred to remain independent and declined, but the major informed me that a refusal of an honor that was intended for me as an American and not as an individual would be displeasing to the marshal, and I at once accepted the hospitality.

The next morning Major Seshimo asked me to come to his tent for a smoke, and while I was there a Russian prisoner was brought up. The major asked me if I spoke any Russian, and I replied that I did not. He then began to question the man himself in that language and seemed to get on fairly well. I listened to what I did not understand. Suddenly the major turned to me and asked:

"What do you think of that?"

"You forget, major, that I do not speak Russian," I replied.

"True," he said, "I forgot."

Somehow I got the idea that he was trying to betray me into admitting a knowledge of the Russian language.

The next morning I told Major Seshimo that I had seen all I desired to see of an army at the front and was about to take my leave, thanking him for the marshal through him for his hospitality. He said that I must by all means wait over another day—that a party among whom were several ladies were expected to visit headquarters and the marshal wished me to meet them. Since he would take no refusal I consented.

The party were English with the exception of one very pretty woman, a Bulgarian. We all dined with the marshal, the Bulgarian lady being assigned to me as a dinner companion. During the meal she whispered to me: "I know who you are. You are thus far safe. When you leave take with you the paper I have slipped into your pocket. It contains information for which I am to receive a hundred thousand rubles. I will give you two-thirds of it. If I get away I will meet you at Vladivostok. But I am suspected and have little hope. If I am lost all will belong to you."

What could I do? Betray a woman to death who had placed her life in my hands? I sat, cold chills alternating with fever all the dinner had ended.

The next day the party were taken about to see what was interesting to them, and I saw clearly that I was expected to accompany them. I did so, but before leaving destroyed the paper the woman had slipped into my pocket. She did not attempt to communicate with me during the ride except as any one else would do so. When we returned to headquarters I noticed that something had happened during our absence. By the interest which seemed to attach to me I could not but suspect that this something pertained to me. A certain constraint that I had noticed in every one I met seemed to have disappeared. Indeed, all seemed desirous to atone for something. I announced my intention to leave during the day, but I found in a more recent request that I would remain for one more dinner. I consented, and we made a gay party that night at table.

I was placed beside the Bulgarian woman again and greeted a repetition of the events of the previous night. While the dinner was in progress the marshal addressed me:

"What is the good with the information for General Kuropatkin?"

I looked at the woman who had given it to me, then at the marshal. My heart was beating the long roll.

"Burned it," I replied.

"Wise! done. I owe you an explanation and an apology. The day of your arrival among us we got wind of a Russian spy answering your description. We did not like to offend an innocent person, especially an American, so we have kept you under surveillance. You must not blame the lady who slipped the paper in your pocket, for she only did it at my request and to give you an opportunity to prove that you were what you pretended to be. However, we now know that we have been mistaken in you, for today the real spy was captured with incriminating documents on him. He is exactly your height, with your light hair and blue eyes."

The next morning as I left the headquarters I passed the spy going to his execution. I shuddered and hurried on. I had had enough of seeing war at the front.

A MIRACLE OF NATURE.
The Wonderful Growth of the Antlers of the Wapiti.

Wapiti antler growth is one of the miracles of nature that we never cease to consider a miracle. About the end of winter—that is in mid-March—the antlers of the year before break off flush with their base an inch or more above the skull. Usually they are found close together, showing that they fell nearly at the same time.

At first the place of each antler is a broad raw spot. In a few days it shows a thick rounded pad or blood gorged skin. This swells rapidly, and in a fortnight the great bulbous fuzzy horn beginning has shot up to a height of several inches. At exactly the right time, place and in just the right direction a bump comes forth to be the foundation of the brow time. In a few more days the bez time is projected by the invisible architect. In a month the structure is nearly a foot high and enveloped in a turgid mass of feverish throbbing blood vessels—the scaffolding and workmen of this surprising structure. Night and day the work is pushed with astounding speed, and in four months this skyscraper is finished, a wonderful structure indeed, for a score of nature's forces have toiled, a myriad of invisible workmen have done their part, and an edifice that, according to ordinary rules, should have taken a lifetime is here rushed through in a summer and all in absolute silence.

August sees the building done, but it is still cluttered with scaffolding. The supplies of blood at the base are reduced and finally discontinued. The antler is no longer in vital touch with the animal. It begins to die. The sensitiveness leaves each part, the velvet covering soon dies, cracks and peels, and the stag assists the process of clearing off the skin by scraping his horns on the brushwood. September sees him fully armed in his spears of dead bone, strong in body, glorying in his weapons and his strength and ready to battle with all comers.—Ernest Thompson Seton in Scribner's.

HONEY AS A FOOD.
It is Nourishing and Saves Work For the Digestive Organs.

Honey, which is described as "one of nature's best foods," is the subject of a report by the Ontario department of agriculture. In this it is pointed out that it is only within the past few centuries that sugar has become known and only within the last generation that refined sugars have become so low in price that they may be commonly used in the poorest families. Formerly honey was the principal sweet, and it was highly valued 3,000 years before the first sugar refinery was built. "It would add greatly to the health of the present generation," it is declared, "if honey could be at least partially restored to its former place as a common article of diet."

Excessive use of sugar brings in its train a long list of ills. When sugar is taken into the stomach it cannot be assimilated until first changed by digestion into grape sugar. Only too often the overtaxed stomach fails properly to perform this digestion, and then come sour stomach and various phases of indigestion and dyspepsia. In the laboratory of the hive the honey has been fully prepared by the bees for prompt assimilation without taxing either stomach or the kidneys, so that in eating honey the digestive machinery is saved work and health is maintained.

Moreover, the same report says that "in many cases it will be a real economy to lessen the butter bill by letting honey in part take its place. One pound of honey will go as far as a pound of butter, and if both articles be of the same quality the honey will cost the less. Honey is strongly recommended for children, while for persons of all ages a pleasant and wholesome drink is called "German honey tea." This is made by pouring a teaspoonful of hot water on from one to two teaspoonfuls of honey."

Curious Wedding Customs in Turkey.

The dowry of a Turkish bride is fixed both by law and custom and must not exceed a sum equal to $170 in United States currency. On no pretext can this amount be made greater or less, even though the parents be extremely poor or immensely wealthy. The wedding is invariably set for Thursday, the festivities beginning on the previous Monday and lasting four days. The merry-making is carried on by the men and women separately, and each day is distinguished by a change in ceremonies. On the second day Turks allow spous, forks, knives or wine on the table when celebrating a wedding.

Herbert Spencer.

Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace told Herbert Spencer's reason for living in a London boarding house with "rather a commonplace set of people—retired Indian officers and others." "He said that he had purposely chosen such a home in order to avoid the mental excitement of too much interesting conversation, that he suffered greatly from insomnia and that he found that when his evenings were spent in commonplace conversation, learning the news of the day or taking part in a little music, he had a better chance of sleeping."

Daintily Expressed.

The author had been dragged fainting from a crowd of shoppers.
"Almost like my last book," he murmured, recovering his senses.
The listeners, being of delicate perception, knew then that the book had fallen dead from the press.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Men spend their lives in the service of their passions instead of employing their passions in the service of their life.—Steele.
